Powered by paralegals and assisted by the legal community, Amici Curiae Friendship Society helps British Columbians prepare their legal forms for free.

Overview

Accessing the legal system independently is a challenge for ordinary British Columbians. Most people do not know how to properly prepare their own legal forms for a court or a tribunal matter, yet more are resolving legal matters on their own.

Amici Curiae is a non-profit society offering workshops that help the public complete the legal forms necessary to present a matter to court or a tribunal. No legal advice is given. The public service paralegal programme was launched by Dom Bautista, Executive Director of Law Courts Center, a continuing professional development provider, encouraged by then Supreme Court of BC Chief Justice Donald Brenner. The first workshop was held in February 8, 2011, in partnership with Access Pro Bono BC and the Ministry of the Attorney General Justice Access Centre (Vancouver). Since then, workshops have been established through a network of strategic partnerships.

Key features of the legal forms workshop

- The free workshops are open to the public.
 - Appointments are confidential and are at least one hour long.
 - Individuals can return as needed.
 - Everyone is welcome. (There is no income test.)
- Our workshops help people complete their legal (court and tribunal) forms relating to:
 - Provincial Court of BC
 - Supreme Court of BC
 - BC Court of Appeal
 - Federal Court of Canada
 - Tribunals (ie BC Human Rights, and Civil Resolution).
- List: <https://www.legalformsbc.ca/legal-subject-areas.html>
- We do not assist in criminal matters and in drafting of wills.

Workshop venues

- Atira Women's Resource Society (Vancouver)
- Battered Women's Support Services (undisclosed location in Vancouver)
- Carnegie Community Learning Centre (Indigenous)
- CHIMO Community Services (Richmond)
- Justice Education Society (Vancouver)
- Surrey Public Library Central Branch (September 2019)
- UBC Indigenous Community Legal Centre (Vancouver)
- Vancouver Public Library Oakridge Branch

Nature of workshops

- Workshops are generally held on Wednesday or Thursday evenings
- Each workshop has its own schedule; workshops are held between January to November. Emergency services are available.
- Services at workshops are provided by a team of volunteers that include:
 - Paralegals who work one-on-one with clients to complete their forms
 - Lawyers who review the forms for completeness; lawyers do not give summary legal advice.
 - Law librarians who conduct legal research when required.
 - Law firm accountants who help with financial statement affidavits.
 - Pets who provide emotional and therapeutic support to volunteers and clients in select venues.

How to book an appointment

- Individuals must have an appointment.
 - They may file online: <http://www.legalformsbc.ca/contact-us.html>
 - write to: legalformsbc@gmail.com, or
 - call 778.522.2839.
- An intake coordinator will answer within three business days to decide if we can help.

I welcome the creation of the Paralegal Pro Bono Program and Access Pro Bono's partnership with the Law Courts Center in its evening Pro Bono Paralegal Program at the Vancouver Justice Access Centre. The Program is unique in Canada in engaging paralegals as primary pro bono legal service providers who work under the supervision of a lawyer to provide assistance to those who would otherwise find themselves with no help at all.

A key priority for the Ministry of Attorney General is to increase access to justice for British Columbians. Equal access is a vital element of our justice system and is a guiding principle for the ACFS. The society has built a strong reputation for the quality of its service and its commitment to those who need assistance resolving legal matters.
